

2013-2014 COUNTRY GUIDELINES FOR NIGER FOR U.S. FULBRIGHT SCHOLARS AND STUDENTS

The Fulbright Program is sponsored and administered by the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs (ECA) of the United States Department of State, and awards scholarships to lecture, conduct research, and study abroad. The program is managed in country by the Public Affairs Section (PAS) at U.S. Embassy Niamey.

Country guidelines contain summary information about the Fulbright award, logistical and program support provided through ECA, contact information for PAS or the U.S. embassy, and advisory information about Niger. These guidelines are an important resource and should be reviewed prior to departing for Niger. This document may be supplemented by PAS during your arrival orientation at post. Please note that this information is subject to change.

THE PUBLIC AFFAIRS SECTION OF U.S. EMBASSY NIAMEY

The Public Affairs Officer (PAO), Marissa D. Scott, and the Cultural Affairs Officer (CAO), Lindsey Whitehead, are the American officials responsible for U.S. Fulbrighters. Cultural Affairs Specialist Soumana Abdouramane Cissé and English Language Program (ELP) Director Billa Anassour also assist Fulbrighters. The PAS is housed in the American Cultural Center (ACC), which is located on Rue de la Tapoa in Niamey.

You can contact PAS/Niamey by telephone and email:

Telephone: (227) 20-73-41-07 or 20-73-31-69
Fax: (227) 20-73-55-60

All Fulbright grantees must register with the embassy in case of emergency. This can be done on this website at any time: <http://www.travel.state.gov/>

YOUR FULBRIGHT GRANT AND THE BINATIONAL NATURE OF THE PROGRAM

The Fulbright Program is administered in accordance with regulations established by the J. William Fulbright Foreign Scholarship Board (FSB). The Board has ruled that Fulbright grant funds cannot duplicate benefits received under other auspices. Therefore, grantees who receive host government or host institution financial contributions (for example, international travel, per diem/subsistence/housing allowance) in cash or kind do not receive allowances for these grant benefits. Grantees who receive a concurrent grant to the same country under other auspices may have their Fulbright grants reduced if Fulbright grant benefits are duplicated by the other grant.

Host country governments and institutions support the exchange program through two ways: (a) monetary contributions, which result in a sharing of program costs, or (b) nonmonetary assistance to enhance the exchange experience for the guest scholar. For countries like Niger, the program is funded almost entirely by the U.S. government and the country offers some, usually limited, in-kind contributions, such as housing for U.S. Fulbright lecturers.

WHAT THE FULBRIGHT GRANT PROVIDES

For Student Grantees

Fulbright student grants have two components: (1) a base amount, and (2) a monthly maintenance allowance. Additional funds may be included in your grant as allowances and are described separately. Benefits authorized by ECA are paid in U.S. dollars through the Institute of International Education (IIE).

1. The base amount is provided to cover initial or onetime startup expenses such as:
 - a. Unaccompanied and/or excess baggage.
 - b. Miscellaneous costs, such as visa fees, permits, medical exams, immunizations, etc. This is a fixed sum in each grant and may not reimburse all expenses completely.
2. A monthly maintenance allowance is provided to cover recurring subsistence needs such as housing, fuel, utilities, and food. The allowance is based upon the estimated standard of living costs in the country of assignment.

For Scholar Grantees

Fulbright scholar grants have three components:

1. Travel and Relocation
 - a. Unaccompanied and/or excess baggage.
 - b. Relocation allowance for expenses such as visa fees, permits, medical exams, immunizations, etc. This is a fixed sum in each grant and may not reimburse all expenses completely.
2. A monthly maintenance allowance is provided to cover recurring subsistence needs such as housing, fuel, utilities, and food.
3. Monthly base stipend.

Additional funds may be included in your grant as special allowances and are described separately. Benefits are based upon the estimated standard of living costs in the country of assignment, and are not intended to duplicate U.S. salary levels or the standard of living of U.S. diplomatic personnel. Benefits authorized by ECA are paid in U.S. dollars through the Council for International Exchange of Scholars (CIES).

PRIOR TO YOUR ARRIVAL

Visas

If possible, you should obtain a one-year, multi-entry visa from the Embassy of Niger in Washington, D.C. Allow plenty of time for the visa process and use overnight mail as much as possible to speed things up. Call the Embassy of Niger if the process seems to take longer than expected. If your visa does not cover your full stay, the ACC will provide letters attesting to your status in order to get an extension locally. You can contact the Embassy of Niger at:

1333 16th St. NW
Washington, DC 20036
Phone: (202) 986-8400
Fax: (202) 483-3169

Research Clearance

A clearance is required by the Ministry of Higher Education and Research. The content of the application submitted to the Ministry depends on the field of study/research. The application for clearance may only be submitted after arrival in Niger, and issuance of the authorization can take 2 to 6 weeks.

Travel to and within Niger

Grantee air travel is coordinated by the travel agency, HRG Worldwide, which will bill IIE or CIES directly for the costs of your tickets. HRG staff will assist you with your reservation and then send your reservation to IIE or CIES for approval. You must book a round-trip ticket with a return date that corresponds to the grant end date. All air travel and all air shipments paid for with United States Government funds must conform to the Fly America Act, which requires that all such travel and shipments be on “U.S. flagged” airlines where such service is available.

Except for arrival and courtesy calls on university and research contacts immediately thereafter, which the ACC will assist you with, Fulbrighters are responsible for arranging their own local transportation. There are taxis available in Niamey. If you are doing research outside the capital, you may be able to obtain assistance from your research partners. Recent Fulbright researchers have found few problems in finding rides with international project vehicles traveling to Zinder and Maradi. The network is informal but works well. Buses and bush taxis are also available for travel outside Niamey.

If you choose to buy or import your own vehicle, you can do so at your own expense. Though expensive, it is almost always possible to find used cars for sale. You should ask your research partners or the university for assistance with purchasing, registering and insuring the vehicle. The Embassy cannot provide this assistance. If you plan to drive, acquire an international driver’s license through the American Automobile Association (AAA) or apply for a Nigerien license upon arrival.

Research Outside of Niamey

Security precautions are necessary when travelling to remote areas of Niger. The security situation in Niger is fluid. The U.S. Embassy provides advice on special security considerations.

Travel to many areas outside of the capital, Niamey, is currently restricted for U.S. government personnel. Please view the latest Travel Warning at travel.state.gov for up to date information. For up-to-date travel information, you can consult the Embassy Niamey website at http://niamey.usembassy.gov/niger/warden_messages.html.

Personal Mail and Access to the Diplomatic Pouch

Fulbright scholars have approval to send one package via diplomatic pouch. This can be a package you have ordered, or a box of books and supplies you prepare in advance and mail to yourself. The package should be addressed as follows:

Marissa Scott
Public Affairs Section
2420 Niamey Place
Washington, D.C. 20521-2420

CAUTIONARY NOTE: In the past, abuse by several Fulbright scholars caused near-revocation of privileges for all program participants. Anyone who violates pouch regulations will be barred from use and will have to make other arrangements for handling personal and professional correspondence.

Please do not send a computer as part of your educational materials through the diplomatic pouch. Previous grantees may report that they did this successfully. This method is no longer possible. Pouch regulations have tightened and are strictly enforced. Boxes identified as containing equipment are returned to the sender.

You may receive mail, including packages, through international mail such as DHL. Mail should be addressed as follows:

Your Name
c/o The American Cultural Center
B.P. 11201
Niamey, Niger

Mail can be picked up at the ACC, but the ACC is not able to forward mail within Niger. Generally, up to four weeks are required for mail coming from the U.S., whether by pouch or international mail.

Please see the information provided in your orientation packet on “For Personal Mail,” “For Official Mail,” and “Instructions for Shipment of Books and Educational Materials by Fulbright Scholars.”

Computers

Recent visitors have experienced no difficulties bringing computers into the country. If you take a computer, we recommend that it travel with you as part of your excess baggage. Customs officials usually require a list of names of the pieces of equipment, brand and model numbers, serial numbers, and estimated value. Plan to leave the country with the computer. Take one or two surge protectors and a good transformer. Dust can be a problem with sensitive electronic equipment. Local repair facilities and supplies are scarce.

Schooling for Dependents

Families should take into consideration the limited healthcare, schooling, and employment possibilities in Niger. There are several schools available in Niamey:

- The American International School, located next to the Embassy, provides classes from kindergarten through grade 9. For grades 10 - 12, supervised correspondence instruction is available. Pre-kindergarten is sometimes available by demand.
- The Sahel Academy, located across the river next to the university, is a private Christian missionary school. Courses are taught in English for grades K-12.
- The Rose Garden is a preschool for ages 2 to 5; some teachers speak English, and there is a bilingual program.
- The French “Cours la Fontaine” offers schooling through high school in French language only.
- Ecole Alliance provides primary bilingual education in French and English.

The ACC can make preliminary contact with a school to get more specific information and to have your child's name put on the registration list.

Spousal Employment

Spousal employment depends on the spouse's skills. Certified teachers can often find positions at The American International School, at least as substitutes. Sometimes the English Language Program hires American spouses who are willing to work evenings and weekends.

PAS AND EMBASSY SUPPORT

In an effort to support U.S. Fulbright scholars/students and their families, the following services are provided by PAS and the Embassy:

Arrival and Temporary Lodging

Whenever possible, ACC staff will meet Fulbrighters and assist with airport arrival, if sufficient advance notice of travel is provided. For you to receive this support, your program agency, CIES or IIE, must receive and forward your itinerary at least two weeks in advance of your arrival and request that you be met. If requested in advance, the ACC can make temporary housing arrangements, payment for which will be your responsibility. Please provide an acceptable price range. Modest rooms are available at local research institutes.

U.S. Embassy Access

Upon arrival in Niger, call the Public Affairs Officer or the Cultural Affairs Officer to arrange for ACC and Embassy briefings on services, security and health concerns. As a precaution in case of emergencies, you are required to register with the U.S. Embassy. Keep the Public Affairs Office and the Embassy Consular Section informed about your local address, telephone, and/or telex numbers throughout your stay.

BANKING & FINANCES

Banking in Niger must be done through local banks. The Embassy is in negotiations with EcoBank to provide an ATM machine at the chancery building, which would be accessible to Fulbrighters. We recommend that scholars carry a major credit card in addition to U.S. dollar travelers' checks. While a credit card is of little use in most of Niger, the Gaweeye Hotel does have an exchange bureau that will accept visa cards, and it can be essential for travel outside Niger in emergencies. Fulbrighters using credit cards should check with the company about what services are available in West Africa.

HEALTH

Health Care

Before leaving the United States, Fulbrighters should undergo complete medical exams. Carry a copy of your Fulbright medical examination report with you. Fulbrighters do not have access to the American Embassy health unit. The Gamkalley Clinic is recommended for most basic health care needs. Arrangements for all necessary immunizations and malaria prophylaxis should be made before leaving the US, as should arrangements for shipment of chronic prescriptions.

The Fulbright grant provides medical insurance and medical evacuation coverage (medevac) for the grantee only. Separate medical insurance and medical evacuation coverage is required for all accompanying dependents and must be arranged prior to departure from the United States.

Please be advised that grantee medical benefits are not in force during independent travel outside of Niger. If you plan to travel outside of the country, you need to arrange for other medical and medevac coverage for this period.

Health Precautions

Malaria prophylaxis should be taken by anyone traveling to and living in Niger. Some prophylaxis must be started one week before arrival and continued four weeks after departure. Mefloquine (250 mgm) weekly or doxycycline (100 mgm) daily are recommended. Chloroquine (300 mgm) weekly with paludrine (200 mgm) daily is an alternative.

All visitors to Niger must have valid yellow fever and cholera inoculations stamped in their health cards. The Embassy Health Unit particularly recommends immunization vaccines for hepatitis A, hepatitis B, tetanus, and typhoid. Current booster/vaccines against childhood diseases (tetanus-diphtheria, polio, and measles/mumps/rubella) are strongly recommended for adults as well as children. Drinking water should be boiled for at least 2 minutes, and fresh vegetables and fruits should be thoroughly cleaned in a disinfectant solution.

If using prescription drugs, it is a good idea to bring a supply sufficient for your stay in the country. Transport all prescription drugs in the original containers for simpler clearance through customs. However, if it is necessary to receive refills from the U.S., see the mail restrictions above for information on doing so.

SECURITY

All new arrivals receive a security briefing at the U.S. Embassy. According to the travel warning dated January 13, 2013, the Department of State warns U.S. citizens of the risks of travel to Niger, and urges extreme caution due to the military conflict in neighboring Mali and continued kidnapping threats against Westerners in Niger.

The border region with Mali continues to be of specific concern since the Malian government's loss of control over its northern region in early 2012. The border is porous, and there are frequent reports of Al-Qaeda in the Islamic Maghreb (AQIM) and other terrorist or rebel groups crossing into Niger. The Government of Niger has increased its security forces in the border area, but the situation remains unstable and travel there is not advised. The U.S. Embassy in Niamey will continue to monitor this situation closely and update U.S. citizens via "Security Messages for U.S. Citizens." These security messages will be posted on U.S. Embassy Niamey's website at http://niamey.usembassy.gov/niger/warden_messages.html.

Because of security threats, the U.S. Embassy in Niamey continues to restrict the travel of U.S. government employees and official visitors in the areas north of Niamey. The U.S. Embassy also continues to evaluate proposed travel and official and personal activities for employees on a case-by-case basis, in consultation with Nigerien security authorities. Recently, the possibility of violence related to extremist and criminal groups coming from northern Nigeria has led the Nigerien government to recommend armed escorts for travel in far eastern Niger.

As a result of safety and security concerns, some organizations, including foreign companies, NGOs, and private aid organizations, have temporarily suspended operations in Niger or withdrawn some family members and/or staff.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION AND RESOURCES

Local Housing

While the Nigerien government is supposed to provide lodging in town for Fulbright lecturers, recent experience has shown that they are unable to do this. In the event that the government is unable to provide housing, your research institution should assist you in finding permanent housing. Researchers and students are responsible for finding their own housing.

What to Bring

- Do not bring a lot of clothing. Dress is almost invariably informal in Niamey, even at the university. It is better to have a few basics that a tailor can copy from local fabric. However, good cotton underwear and shoes in American styles and sizes cannot be bought locally.
- Important documents and enough clothes and toiletries in your carry-on to get through a day or so in case your baggage gets sidetracked.
- Certified copies of all important family documents, including birth and marriage certificates, passports, diplomas, and medical records.

- Necessary financial documents, but most important, make sure that someone trustworthy in the United States can find anything you need quickly.
- A good portable shortwave radio.
- Several strong combination locks or padlocks.

Other

As a member of the American community, you will be able to join the American Recreation Association, which is housed at the American International School Niamey and have meals at the canteen. The facilities also include a swimming pool and tennis court, as well as a gym.

Women may join the American Anglophone Women's Club in Niamey.

FULBRIGHT REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

The Fulbright award requires submission of two reports: 1) at the interim or mid-point of the grant, and 2) a final report prior to departing the host country. Grantees will receive instructions from CIES or IIE, as appropriate, on filing these reports on-line.
