

The Fulbright Program operates in over 160 countries worldwide. Approximately 8,000 grants are awarded annually. Since its inception in 1946, more than 370,000 “Fulbrighters” have participated in the program. Fulbright alumni serve in leadership positions in government, academia, business, the arts, science, journalism, and other professional fields and are the recipients of 54 Nobel Prizes, 88 Pulitzer Prizes, 29 MacArthur Foundation Awards, and 16 U.S. Presidential Medals of Freedom.

The Fulbright Program provides participants—chosen for their academic merit and leadership potential—with the opportunity to study, teach and conduct research, exchange ideas, and contribute to finding solutions to shared international concerns. These programs are open to people regardless of their race, color, national origin, sex, age, religion, geographic location, socio-economic status, disability, sexual orientation, or gender identity.

Grant Categories and Programs

The Fulbright U.S. Student Program gives fellowships for U.S. graduating college seniors, graduate students, young professionals and artists to study abroad for one academic year.

The Fulbright English Teaching Assistant Program places recent college graduates and young professionals as assistant English teachers in primary school through university classrooms abroad.

The Fulbright-Clinton Fellowship allows U.S. public policy young professionals and Ph.D. students to serve in professional placements as special assistants in foreign government ministries or institutions

The Fulbright-National Geographic Digital Storytelling Fellowship provides U.S. participants with opportunities for overseas travel and digital storytelling in up to three countries on globally significant themes.

The Fulbright Foreign Language Teaching Assistant Program provides opportunities for young English teachers from overseas to refine their teaching skills, increase their English proficiency, and expand their knowledge of U.S. society and values while strengthening foreign language instruction at U.S. colleges and universities.

The Fulbright Foreign Student Program brings graduate students, young professionals and artists from abroad to conduct research and study in the United States.

The Fulbright U.S. Scholar Program sends American scholars abroad to teach and/or conduct research for up to a year.

The Fulbright Specialist Program sends U.S. faculty and professionals to serve as expert consultants on curriculum, faculty development, institutional planning and related subjects at overseas academic institutions for a period of two to six weeks.

The Fulbright Visiting Scholar Program and Fulbright Scholar-in-Residence Program brings foreign scholars to lecture and/or conduct postdoctoral research for up to a year at U.S. colleges and universities.

The Fulbright NEXUS Program brings together a network of junior scholars, professionals, and mid-career applied researchers from the U.S. and other Western Hemisphere nations for a series of three seminar meetings and a Fulbright exchange experience.

The Fulbright Arctic Initiative supports a multinational cohort of scholars and researchers to study the changing Arctic from a multidisciplinary perspective and engage in collaborative thinking, analysis and problem solving.

The Distinguished Fulbright Awards in Teaching sends U.S. teachers abroad and brings international teachers to the U.S. for one semester to pursue individual projects, conduct research, and lead master classes or seminars for teachers and students.

The Hubert H. Humphrey Fellowship Program brings outstanding mid-career professionals from developing and emerging countries to the U.S. for one year. Fellows participate in academic study and gain professional experience.