FULBRIGHT

Engaging with the World

For over 70 years, the Fulbright Program has given hundreds of thousands of passionate and accomplished students, scholars, teachers, artists, and professionals of all backgrounds and fields the opportunity to study, teach and conduct research, exchange ideas, and contribute to finding solutions to complex global challenges.

The Fulbright U.S. Student Program

sends U.S. graduating college seniors, graduate students, young professionals, and artists to pursue graduate or professional studies and/or conduct research abroad for one academic year.

The Fulbright English Teaching

Assistant Program places U.S. recent college graduates and young professionals abroad as assistant English teachers in classrooms from primary through university level.

The Fulbright-National Geographic Storytelling Fellowship

sends U.S. citizens abroad to engage in digital storytelling projects on globally significant themes in up to three countries.

The Fulbright Foreign Language Teaching Assistant Program

brings early career English teachers from overseas to teach their native language at U.S. colleges and universities while they enhance their English language teaching skills and learn U.S. values prior to returning home to teach English.

The Fulbright Foreign Student Program

brings graduate students, early career professionals, and artists from abroad to conduct research and study in the United States.

The Fulbright U.S. Scholar Program

sends American scholars abroad to teach and/or conduct research for up to a year.

The Fulbright Specialist Program

sends U.S. academics and professionals to host institutions abroad for two to six weeks to share expertise and establish partnerships benefiting institutions and communities both in the United States and overseas.

The Fulbright Visiting Scholar Program and Fulbright Scholar In-Residence Program

bring foreign scholars to lecture and/or conduct postdoctoral research for up to a year at U.S. colleges and universities.

The Fulbright Arctic Initiative

supports a multi-national cohort of scholars and researchers to study the Arctic from a multidisciplinary perspective and engage in collaborative thinking, analysis, and problem solving.

The Fulbright Distinguished Awards in Teaching

send U.S. teachers abroad and bring international teachers to the United States for one semester to pursue individual projects, conduct research, and share their expertise with local teachers and students.

The Hubert H. Humphrey Fellowship Program

brings outstanding mid-career professionals from developing and emerging countries to the United States for one year. Fellows participate in academic study and gain professional experience.
