

PROJECT OBJECTIVES, GOALS, AND IMPLEMENTATION (POGI)

FY 2018 Jóvenes en Acción

Funding Opportunity Number: ECA-ECAPEC-18-016

Office of Citizen Exchanges Youth Programs Division

The POGI guidelines apply specifically to the Notice of Funding Opportunity (NOFO) issued by the Office of Citizen Exchanges Youth Programs Division for the FY 2018 Jóvenes en Acción (Youth in Action). Proposals must conform to the NOFO, the Guidelines stated in this document, and the standard Proposal Submission Instructions (PSI). Applications not adhering to the conditions set forth herein may be deemed technically ineligible. These guidelines are specific to the program mentioned above and are IN ADDITION TO the Standard Guidelines outlined in the PSI. If there is a perceived disparity between the standard and program specific Guidelines and the program information supplied in the accompanying NOFO, the NOFO is to be the dominant reference.

I. STATEMENT OF WORK

The U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs (ECA) and the Public Affairs Section (PAS) of the U.S. Embassy in Mexico are supporting the participation of high school youth in an intensive, substantive four-week exchange in the United States.

The exchange activities will introduce the participants to a comprehensive survey of civic education, community service, and youth leadership development. Activities will focus on building their knowledge and skill levels in these areas. The students will participate in workshops, community service activities, meetings with community leaders, and discussion groups and will have opportunities for substantive interaction with each other and their American peers.

In a cooperative agreement, ECA is substantially involved in program activities above and beyond routine monitoring.

The responsibilities of the award recipient will be the following:

- 1) Preparation
 - a) Contact participants before the program to provide them with program information, pre-departure materials, and to gather information about their specific interests, in collaboration with PAS. Attend the pre-departure orientation in Mexico City a few days prior to the start of the exchange.
 - b) Issue DS-2019 forms. All foreign participants will travel on a U.S. Government designation for the J Exchange Visitor Program.
 - c) Enroll participants in the Bureau's Accident and Sickness Program for Exchanges (ASPE) health benefits plan for the duration of the exchange, and assist with claims as necessary.
 - d) Hire and train staff, as needed, to accompany participants during the exchange period. Criminal background checks, including a search of the Department of Justice's National Sex Offender Public Registry, must be conducted for all staff.

- e) Arrange and manage all domestic and international travel, ground transportation, group meals, and disbursement of stipends
- f) Make and monitor housing arrangements to ensure the health and safety of participants. Carefully recruit, screen, and select diverse local host families to offer homestays (lodging and meals) to the participants for part of the exchange period. Screening needs to include a visit to the home to meet all members of the household to ensure that the host family is capable of providing a comfortable and nurturing home environment. Criminal background checks, including a search of the Department of Justice's National Sex Offender Public Registry, must be conducted for each member of the host family household who is 18 years of age or older.
- g) Orient participating organizations, staff, and host families to the goals of the program and to the cultures and sensitivities of the visitors.
- h) Arrange for adult accompaniment on the international flight, and for all domestic and international travel and ground transportation.

2) Exchange Activities

- a) Design, plan, and implement an intensive and substantive four-week exchange program on the stated themes that will develop participants' knowledge and skill base in civic education, community service and leadership. Exchange activities must promote program goals. Activities will be school and community-based, as appropriate to the project. Recruit peers from the United States to be engaged in activities with the exchange participants.
- b) Arrange appropriate community, cultural, social, and civic activities.
- c) Engage participants in approximately one community service activity each week during the exchange. The program should provide context for the participants – identifying community needs, volunteerism, charitable giving, fundraising, etc. – and a debriefing to provide context for the service activity and help participants see how to apply the experience at home.
- d) Provide day-to-day monitoring of the participants' well-being, preventing and dealing in a timely manner with any misunderstandings or adjustment issues that may arise. Immediately inform ECA and PAS about any significant health or safety issues that affect program participants via secure email or telephone.
- e) Provide a welcome orientation to serve as an introduction to the program and its objectives as well as an introduction to the United States.
- f) Provide a closing session to summarize project activities, prepare participants for their return home, and plan for the future.

3) Follow-on activities

- a) Provide guidance and support for participants' implementation of service projects that reinforce values and skills imparted during the exchange program to help them apply what they have learned upon returning to their schools and communities.
- b) Present creative and effective ways to address project themes, for both program participants and their peers, as a means to amplify program impact.
- c) Support participants in preparing blogs/presentations/articles to share their experiences once they return home.
- d) Arrange visits by a project staff member to participate in activities organized by the U.S. Embassy and/or the in-country partner, as needed.

4) Design and implement an evaluation plan to assess the U.S. portion of the program on the participants as well as on host and home communities.

- 5) Work in consultation with ECA and PAS in the implementation of the program, provide timely reporting of progress to ECA and PAS, and comply with financial and program reporting requirements.
- 6) Manage all financial aspects of the program, including stipend disbursements to the participants and management of sub-award relationships with partner organizations.

The responsibilities of the Department of State (ECA and PAS Mexico City) will be the following:

- 1) Provide advice and assistance in the execution of all program components.
- 2) Manage the recruitment and selection of the participants, provide pre-departure briefings, and oversee follow-on activities in collaboration with the implementing partner in Mexico selected by the U.S. Embassy.
- 3) Issue J-1 visas for the foreign participants. All foreign participants will travel on a U.S. Government designation for the J Exchange Visitor Program.
- 4) Facilitate interaction within the Department of State, to include ECA, the regional bureau, and U.S. Embassy Mexico City.
- 5) Arrange meetings with Department of State officials in Washington, D.C. and Mexico.
- 6) Approve publicity materials and final calendar of exchange activities.
- 7) Monitor and evaluate the program, through regular communication with the award recipient and possibly one or more site visits.
- 8) Perform an annual performance evaluation/review. Satisfactory performance and the availability of funds are conditions of continued administration of the program and execution of the non-competitive continuation year.

II.

PROGRAM SPECIFIC GUIDELINES

Participant Selection: PAS and the Mexican Ministry of Public Education will recruit, screen, and select the participants. The youth participants will be high school students between the ages of 15 and 17 who have demonstrated leadership aptitude, and an interest in community service and the project themes; exhibit flexibility, maturity, integrity, good social skills, and open-mindedness; and have the motivation necessary to be active and successful exchange participants. Although participants will be proficient in English, intensive English classes during the first week of the program will help them gain confidence in their speaking ability.

Orientations: PAS in collaboration with a local implementing partner will provide a pre-departure orientation for the participants, with program-specific information provided by the award recipient. The award recipient should plan to attend the pre-departure orientation in Mexico City immediately prior to the start of the exchange and accompany the group on the international flight. The award recipient will conduct a welcome orientation for the participants to introduce them to the host community and to prepare them for the activities ahead. The orientations should include a general political, historical, educational, and cultural introduction to the United States, information related specifically to the objectives and themes of the program, and practical and administrative information.

Exchange Program: The program should consist primarily of interactive activities, practical experiences, and other opportunities that provide an introduction to the civic, cultural, and educational institutions of the United States. Activities should use hand-on methods to help the participants learn about the fundamentals of civil society and community activism, build their leadership skills, and develop similar activities for their peers in their home country. The Bureau urges applicants to present innovative, resourceful, and effective programming ideas. Applicants should justify their choices by explaining how their program plan will meet the stated goals.

The exchange will include 4-7 days in Washington, D.C., at any point in the exchange, for educational activities that focus on the U.S. political system and citizen involvement in public life. This time may also include a visit to the U.S. Department of State to provide exposure to U.S. foreign policy with Mexico. This segment and the remaining weeks in communities outside Washington, D.C. will include a variety of activities and will offer the participants exposure to the diversity of American life.

The activities could include a mix of workshops or training sessions, simulations and role-playing, teambuilding exercises, case studies, volunteer service, leadership training, meetings, classroom visits, site visits, and social time among peers. Many of these should be planned in conjunction with participation in school and community activities in a way that is educational both for the exchange participants and their hosts/peers. Intensive English language classes should be held during the first week to help students gain confidence in their speaking ability. With the exception of the intensive English classes, exchange participants should not attend classes in a school for more than a few days. All programming should include U.S. students wherever possible. Cultural and recreational activities will balance the schedule.

Examples of the kinds of program activities that may be included:

- Community service/volunteer activities
- Peer training/education workshops
- Teambuilding exercises
- Fundraising strategies
- Project/time management workshops
- Leadership development with workshop trainers or organizations
- Meetings with government, community, and business leaders
- Computer training that emphasizes research, critical thinking and analysis, and the use of the computer and internet and social media platforms as resources and tools in education and business
- Exercises related to conflict resolution, increasing tolerance and developing strategies for future collaboration and cooperation among participants
- Dialogues, simulations, role plays and other activities aimed at helping participants articulate their thoughts about the project's themes and developing presentation skills
- Visits to historical sites, government and community centers, museums and landmarks that combine learning about principals of government, history, and society with tourism
- Sports, drama, fine arts, musical and other extracurricular activities that provide opportunities for participants to work and play together

The award recipient will conduct a welcome orientation for the participants upon arrival in the United States to introduce them to the program and the community. Exchanges will end with a closing session summarizing the experience, sharing action plans for activities at home, and preparing for re-entry. The ideas and action plans to be implemented at home will come from the participants, but the project staff should be prepared to encourage, assist and direct the participants in developing these plans both during the exchange and during the follow-on period.

Sites: In addition to visiting Washington, D.C., the delegations should spend time in no more than one or two locations to allow the participants time to familiarize themselves with a community. Applicant organizations should describe the rationale for their location selections. The Bureau encourages applicants to consider proximity to sites of historical or cultural interest, access to organizations that can conduct appropriate workshops, and representation of the diversity of the host country.

Accommodations: Applicants must present in their proposals a clear and detailed recruitment, screening, and selection process for host families. In the United States, homestays with local families must be arranged for part of the exchange period. A dormitory, hotel, or other housing with appropriate adult supervision is an acceptable arrangement for other segments of the program, such as the welcome orientation, the closing session, or special workshops. Youth participants will always have separate rooms from adult mentors and program staff. Further, appropriate supervision should always be implemented when youth are staying in hotel, dormitory, or other accommodation to ensure that youth participants are safe.

ECA encourages diversity in the recruitment and selection of host families. They may represent diversity in family size and structure, race and ethnicity, socio-economic status, religion, and geography. While exchange participants may share a room with someone of a similar age and the same gender, they must have their own bed. Participants may be placed with host families as singles or in pairs. Host families need to have adequate financial resources to undertake hosting obligations, and adequate/meaningful time to spend with the participants.

Follow-on Activities: Provide guidance and support to participants in the U.S. by advising and supporting them in planning the implementation of community service projects, and offering opportunities to reinforce the ideas, values and skills imparted during the exchange. Exchange participants should return home from the exchange prepared to implement projects that serve a need in their schools or communities. To amplify program impact, proposals should present creative and effective ways to address the project themes, for both program participants and their peers. Proposals may include travel for a staff member to participate in follow-on activities, which may be organized by the Embassy or a local implementing partner, such as follow-on meetings during the year, and the final wrap up in May 2019 for the first program year.

Monitoring: Develop and implement a plan to monitor the participants' safety and well-being during the exchange and to create opportunities for participants to share potential issues and resolve them promptly. The award recipient will be required to provide proper staff supervision and facilitation to ensure that the teenagers have safe and pedagogically rich programs. Staff will assist the youth with cultural adjustments, provide societal context to enhance learning, and counsel students as needed.

Evaluation: The Government Performance and Results Act (GPRA) of 1993 requires that federal agencies measure the results of their programs in meeting performance goals. The proposal should demonstrate the applicant's plan to measure the medium-term impact of the program. The follow-on activities will provide an opportunity to assess the impact of the exchanges on the participants, to determine how their attitudes have changed, and to evaluate the acquisition of knowledge and skills associated with program themes.

Other notes: The recipient organization is responsible for all components of the program outlined in this document. In addition, the Bureau requires recipient organizations to communicate with ECA and PAS on a regular basis about program activities. The organization must also inform ECA and PAS of their progress at each stage of the project's implementation in a timely fashion, and will be required to obtain approval of any significant program changes in advance of their implementation. All materials and correspondence related to the program, including publicity materials, will acknowledge this as a joint initiative between the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs, U.S. Embassy Mexico City, the Mexican government, and the private sector. The Bureau will retain copyright use of and can distribute materials related to this program as it sees fit.

Logos from the U.S. Department of State, U.S. Embassy in Mexico City, Mexican Secretariat of Public Education, Jóvenes en Acción and private sector donors are the only ones that can be used under previous authorization in any kind of materials given to participants. Jóvenes en Acción participants are solely considered grantees of the governments of the United States and Mexico and are not to be identified as the grantee's (the applicant's) grantees.
